

THE FOX THAT LOST ITS TAIL

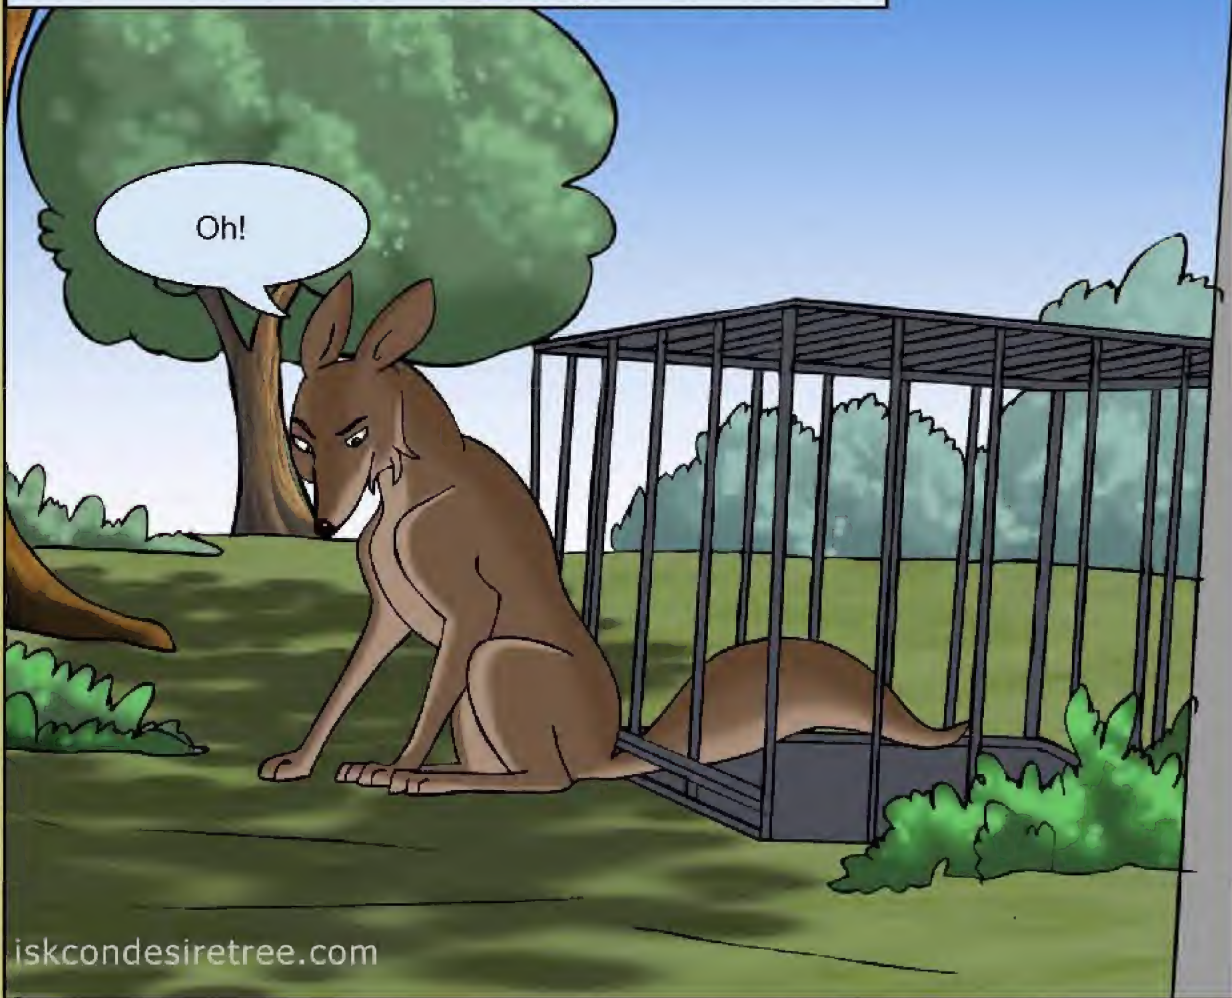

There was one fox. He used to adore his tail.
He used to comb his tail-hair with his paws

I have very beautiful,
pretty, fatty tail

Once, in search of food, his tail got caught in a hunter's cage

Oh!

The fox was startled. His tail began to pain

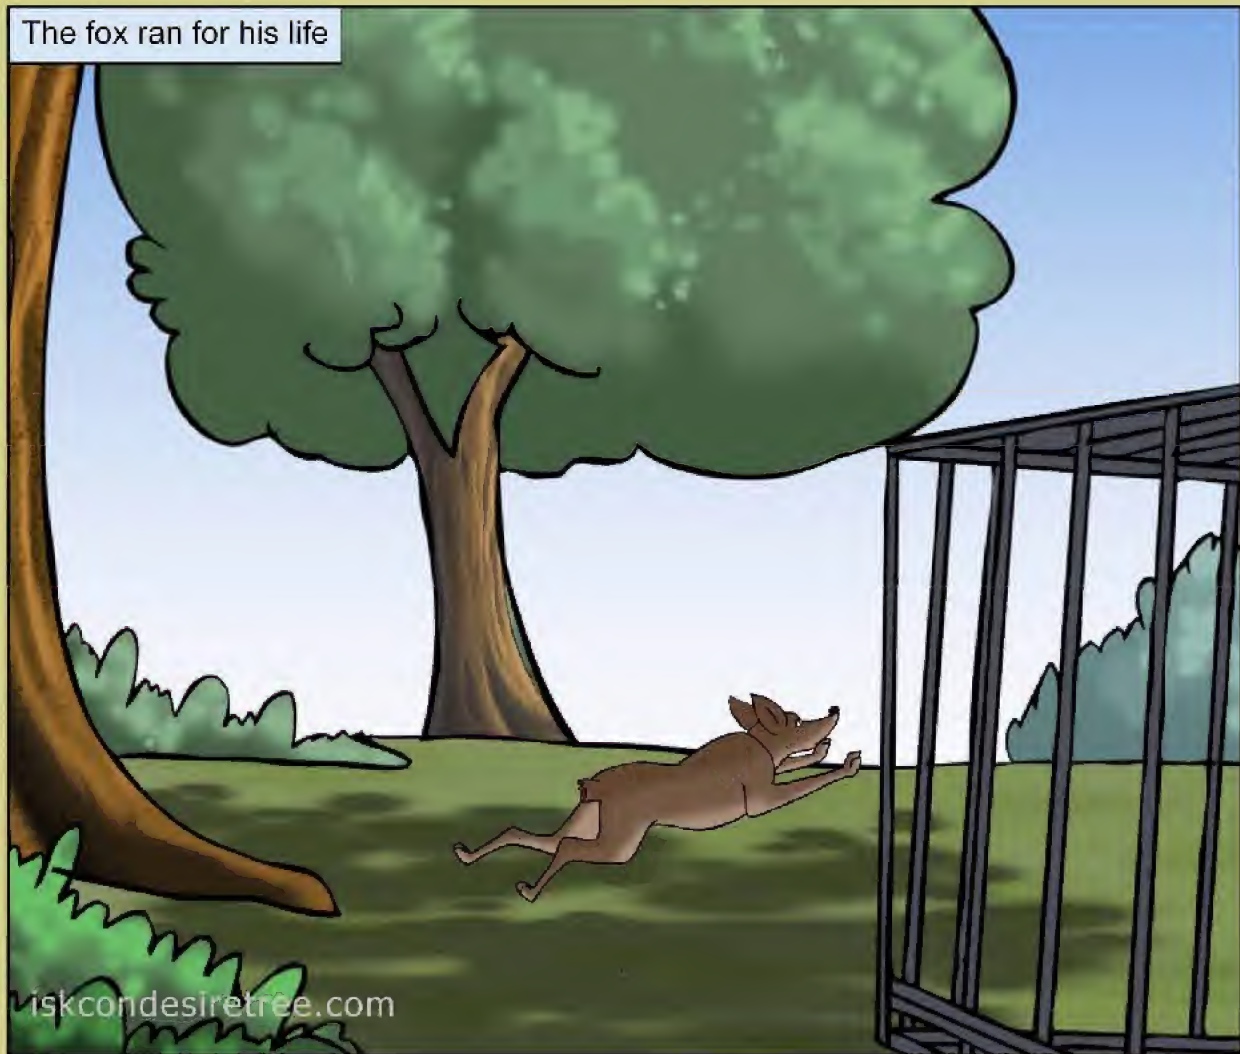

A cartoon illustration of a brown fox's head and shoulders. The fox's mouth is wide open, showing its teeth and tongue, as if it is in pain or shouting. Its eyes are closed, and its ears are perked up. A speech bubble above its head contains the word "Ouch!". The background is a simple green field with a brown tree trunk on the left and a white fence on the right.

Ouch!

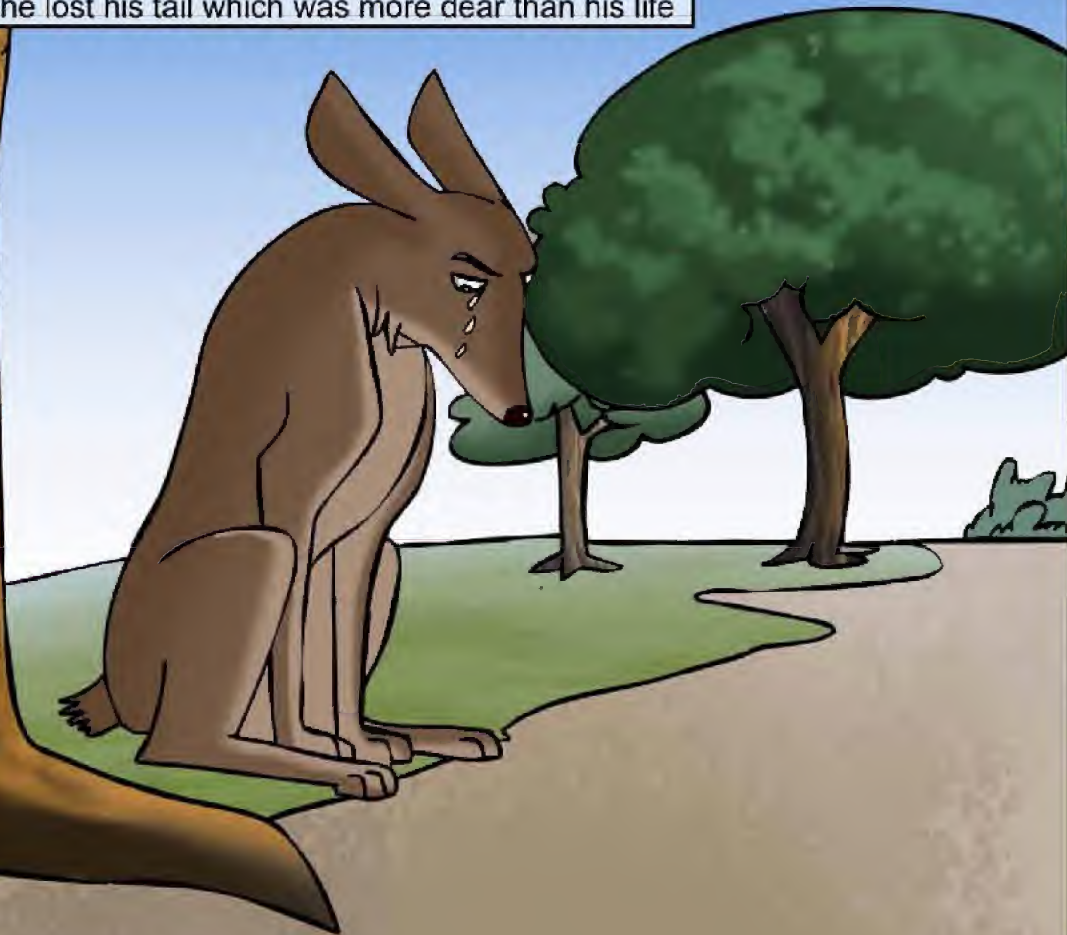

He put so much force to release himself that his tail got cut off

The fox ran for his life

He stood at a place and began to cry. Somehow his life was saved, but he lost his tail which was more dear than his life

Thereafter he used to feel ashamed to go out

Every animal has a nice beautiful tail.
Only i am bereft of the tail. Everyone will tease me,"the fox with no tail"

What if all foxes have no tails?
Then i need not feel shy!

After much thinking, he thought of a plan

He called all the foxes for a conference. The fox with no tail sat on a raised rock. All assembled foxes sat down on the green grass

My dear friends, I used to like my tail very much. But after I lost it abruptly, I got peace

The tail keeps dragging uselessly behind us and keeps getting dirty.

Also it is said that even ancestors of humans did have tail

But after it was dropped the man made progress. Therefore to make progress, you must cut off your tails

Hearing his plea, there was pin-drop silence in the conference

Then one elder fox said....

All of sudden, if you had not lost your tail, then would you have cut off your tail in the name of progress? Has God unnecessarily given us the tail?

The fox with no tail understood that his plan has been revealed. He lowered his head and silently walked away
